TUESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 11.

A BIG PANTHER HUNT .- An exciting panther bunt took place in Adams county, Ill., Saturday, which resulted in killing a ferocious beast that has terrorized the people of that county all winter. The animal was heard from first in the eastern portion of Adams county, where it was killing live stock. An old man named Hill says he met it in a lonely road one night, but the beast only gave a cream and disappeared. A short time later Daniel Voorhees, a farmer living near Quincy, came to that city and said that early one morning he was at-tacked in his barn by a huge wild animal, but after a short struggle the beast flad into a neighboring strip of timber. Voorhees re-ceived several ugly scratches. The neigh-borhood became alarmed and many people refused to leave their homes after night, fearing an attack.

Reports then came from other farmers that cows, caives, and even horses were be ing killed and their bodies mangled by some unknown animal, and a band of armed men hunted for two days recently in hopes of killing the animal, but not until Saturday was this accomplished. The big pauther, for such it proved to be, was traced by dags into a dense thicket in the Bear Creek country, and it fought with desperation when closely pressed, and one or two of the dogs were killed. A volley from the rifles soon laid the big cat dead.

MEDICINAL.

A VETERAN.

A VETERAN.

I was wounded in the leg at the battle of Stone River, Dec. 31st, 1822. My blood was poisoned from the effects of the wound, and the leg swelled to double its natural size, and remained so for many years. The poison extended to my whole system, and I suffered a thousand deaths. Nothing did me any good until I took Swift's Specific, which took the poison out of my system, and enabled me to feel myself a man again. S. S. S. is the remedy for blood poison.
